13 Battle of Germantown. 14 Fac Similie of Washington's hand-writing. The Portraits were copied from the original paintings. The plans, sketches, and other engravings, have been compiled from the best drawings, as well English and French as American. Special aid was derived from a series of Manuscript drawings in the possession of Gen. La Fav-

ette, which are executed with scientific accuracy and beauty. The well known ability of the author, the abundant means which he possessed, viz: more that two hundred Folio volumes of Original mainscripts, purchased by Congress, ten years researches in the public offices in London, Paris, Washington, and all the States which formed the confederacy during the Revolution, as well as time access he has gained to valuable private papers i.t. different parts of the country-have brought in . his hands a mass of materials, original and important in their character, which we trust will be found to have contributed essential aid in enabling him to execute with more accuracy and completeness his main purpose, and thos to have compensated in some degree for the time and labor they have cost. Its publication has not only involved extended and laborious research on the part of the editor, but great pecuniary responsibilities on the part of the publishers.

The price affixed to this work is less, when the exertion is considered, than that of any other publication in Europe or America. The investment and expenditures connected with this undertaking are much greater than usually attended such publications, and it will be apparent that the publishers must rely on an extensive sale for their remu-

The engravings alone are thought by many to be worth the cost of the whole work. subscribers the price will be enhanced. Many testimonials of unqualified approbation migh be added, by gentlemen who have examined the work, but the publishers conceive it to be unnecessary. Letters have been received from many distinguished persons concurring in the opinion that the work is, in every respect, richly deserving of public patronage.

Among the many who have given the work the aid of their subscription and influence, are the following gentlemen, viz: Hons. John Q Adams.
